GOVERNOR PINCHOT TO SUMMON LEGISLATURE TO MEET NEXT MONDAY

Last Effort For Federal Relief Without Legislative Session Fails

Session Will Probably Be Restricted To Taking Care Of Relief

International News Service) HARRISBURG, Sept. 4. -Declaring no other course vas possible, Gov. Gifford Pinchot today announced he will call the legislature into special session Monday, September 10, at noon, to deal with the relief crisis.

In a brief statement issued shortly before his arrival here from his estate at Milford this morning, the governor said:

"It is perfectly clear from Mr.

There were several other accidents here Saturday and Sunday, Fortunately no persons were injured.

James Gardner, R. F. D. 6, Butler, said there was a machine double-parked on the east side of South refferson street and as he was driving across South Jefferson street a car bearing Pennsylvania license CK311, operated by T. E. Stuart, 802 State street, pulled around the double-parked car and owing to this condition the cars driven by Stuart struck Gardner's machine.

F. L. Bloomquist, R. F. D. 2, New Castle, reported that he was driving Saturday night, west on East Washington street and was making a left turn into North Mercer street and a machine bearing Pennsylvania license 3178 which was going west on East Washington street, struck his car, tore off the bumper. The accident occurred about 8:25 p. m.

H. N. Thompson, 829 Franklin avenue, reported he was driving in Butler avenue Saturday, and that Carmi Glover, 309 East Falls street, was operating a machine ahead of his, and the cars collided at Butler avenue and Johns street.

James A. Walker, R. F. D. 2. New Castle, reported he was driving his car at 10:30 p. m. Sunday, south on Croton avenue, at Cascade street and a machine driven by J. J. Bales, R. F. D. 3, Slippery Rock, came from East Brook street and struck his car. Bales claims that Walker's car was being operated at a fast speed.

Paul E. Lutton, R. F. D. 7, New Castle, also reported that he was driving his car at 10:45 a. m. Suncollided with another on the Harrisburg pike near Flot.

Across the Continent - or Here in New Castle

Most families know this establishment pròvides funeral services of unusual beauty and comfort, yet within the means of even the less fortunately situated ... here in New Castle.

What many do not know is that through our connections in every city, we are in a position to serve them should need arise away from home. When such emergency occurs, all any resident of this city or vicinity need do is to telephone us and we will make the necessary arrangements. It is often impossible for a member of the family to travel to some distant city to make suitable arrangements in person, and instructions given by long distance telephone or telegraph are no guarantee of the ability of the mortician receiving them.

We have been of great assistance in aiding many families to avoid keen disappointment under such circumstances. We will be glad to explain this and other services to you without obligation.

Opposition Plentiful

Opposition to convocation of the session has been plentiful and has sprung from many sources, including the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce, the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association and many other local and state-wide groups.

In political circles only the Democrats were willing to advocate call-ing the legislature. Republicans unanimously condemned the session and Governor Pinchot made repeated attempts in an effort to bring about a compromise of the federal government's ultimatum that the state must begin to share in the re-lief expenses in September.

His final plea was made last week his home, 1516 Highland avenue, at even after both President Roosevelt 5:30 a. m. This offer, of $6,000,-000 from liquor profits and $14,-000,000 from the motor fund, was summarily rejected by Hopkins.

The executive's offer of cash followed the failure of the scheduled bi-partisan meeting in New York last Friday to come to an agree-ment in the absence of George H. Earle, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, who refused to attend. Both major party candidates for governor and the two states chairmen were invited to attend the meeting.

Previously Attorney General William S. Schnader, the Republican nominee, pledged himself, if elected, to make certain that the incoming legislature took up the relief probem in January and promised to obtain supporting pledges from G.O.P. legislative candidates, at the same time asking Earle to do the same thing. What many do not know is that through our connections in every city, we are in a position to serve them should need arise away from home. When such emergency occurs, all any resident of this city or vicinity need do is to telephone us and we will make the necessary arrangements. It is often impossible for a member of the family to travel to some distant city to make suitable arrangements in person, and instructions given by long distance telephone or telegraph are no guarantee of the ability of the mortician receiving them.

We have been of great assistance in aiding many families to avoid keen disappointment under such circumstances. We will be glad to explain this and other services to you without obligation.

The principal argument advanced son by Governor Pinchot and others against a session was the contention that Pennsylvania has been discriminated against in the allocation of federal funds. It also was contended vigorously that, so close to election time, the legislature would be unwilling to impose further taxation on the people and that even if a new tax were passed it could not be collected at once.

Until the state exhausted its available relief money at the end of April of this year, the dollar-fordollar agreement between the state and federal government had been followed fairly closely, the state spending $67,000,000 to the federal government's $74,768,123.

Since May the federal governhas advanced $54,325,203, including $21,020,000 for works relief.

MIAINE IN A NEW DEAL TEST

NEXT week the State of Maine will hold an election which will be regarded by many as a political barometer of what to expect from the other States in November.

Maine, with characteristic tenacity, holds on to the plan of the attention of a speed cop. And though I should have been sorry, voting in September, and for that reason its national contests sometime I wasn't quite equal to the stand out with unusual prominence and are are generally considered to have some national significance.

ed to have some national significance.

This year the campaign has been a lively one, with the from his readers and most of them New Deal as the outstanding issue. Senator Frederick Hale, I who is aspiring to his fourth term, and Alfred K. Ames, the Republican candidate for Governor, have both stressed it in their addresses. The three nominees for the House of Representa- do something about it, but he hardly tives have based their campaign on the contention that there is too much interference by the Federal Government in the business of the country and in the lives of the people. The Republican leaders claim that they will elect the Senator, the Governor and the three members of the House.

In 1932 Herbert Hoover carried the State by a plurality of about 38,000, but the Republicans lost the Governorship by shall I order for dinner?' and husa few thousand votes. The comparisons of this year's election bands are people who aren't much will naturally be with the 1932 returns. If the Republican candidate for Governor should win, as predicted by the party man-agers, it would be a gain. The Democrats now have two of struction: but it's most embarrassthe three members of the House of Representatives. Whether that, they will regain these two scats remains to be seen.

In any event they are meeting the issue fairly and squarely but it's the hardest to forget when and are content to stand by the result. A survey of the State fellow's conversation. gives the Republican leaders much encouragement. The people in both the cities and the rural sections seem dissatisfied with the New Deal. Rugged individualism still prevails in Maine, in spite of the fact that the Republicans met with losses two years ago. Part of that loss was due to local issues and the unpopularity of the State government, and part of it to the Roosevelt wave which swept over some conservative sections.

WHEN SCHOOL BELLS RING ...

The public schools are opening now, more to the joy of the boys. It is an easy matter to put off rirls than might be supposed from their oft-expressed complaints, some little jobs until tomorrow and girls than might be supposed from their oft-expressed complaints. For the children who are well-fed and properly clother, attendance has many compensating factors.

Like older people, boys and girls thrive and enjoy the discipline and the regular hours that go with a schedule. Too often the vacation the result that you seem always to soon learn to like system and regularity.

This is the age of centralized schools, and hundreds of boys and girls in the rural sections of this community will be catching the bus five mornings a week. This service, fortunately, is in the hands of drive dition for your day's labor, ers who fully appreciate the need for caution, and who also understand how to best serve the parents who, after all, as patrons and taxpayers, are their real employers.

School board members feel a quickening of the pulse at this sea- begin. son of the year. Theirs is the responsibility for carrying on public educa-Mon in its most important phase. They take pleasure in providing adequate facilities for the boys and girls, and at the same time try to keep the goodwill of the community through their understanding of local viewpoints. It is the kind of responsibility which makes good citizens has received a government check for $1,000 this year for not raising hogs. So my neighbor now wants to go into the business himself. He says, the idea of not raising hoes appeals to him very strongly.

THE FLOURISHING BUSINESS OF NOT RAISING HOGS!

The following letter was received the other day by the editor of a newspaper:

I write to you as to your opinion of the best kind of a farm not to raise hogs on, the best strain of hogs not to raise, and how best to keep an inventory of hogs you are not raising. Also, do you think capital could be secured by issuance of a non-hog-raising gold bond?

we figure we might easily not raise 1,500 or 2,000 hogs, so you see the possible profits are only limited by the number of hogs we do not raise, The other fellow had been raising hogs for 40 years and never made more than $400 in any one year. Pathetic, isn't it, to think how he wasted his life raising hogs when he could have made so much more not raising them!

I will thank you for any advice you may offer.

PRESENTS A GOOD EXAMPLE

If she had consented to become a candidate, though, she would have been running largely on her late husband's record and sentiment would have played a big part in getting her votes. She didn't want to go to congress simply because she was the widow of a speaker, and apparently she had no desire to seek the seat to satisfy any political ambitions or to attempt to promote any pet reforms.

Her example should serve as a wholesale one. There have been cases of widows of congressmen seeking election, and a sympathy vote usually has elected them. The practice is not one to be commended. Widows who have won seats in the house may well have discharged their duties well, but their opponents were put to a disadvan-ficials paid him cash for it and tage by the appeal to sympathy which their candidacy carried and the then came around the next month

MAINE IN A NEW DEAL TEST

NEXT week the State of Maine will hold an election which will be regarded by many as a political barometer of what to expect from the other States in November.

Maine, with characteristic tenacity, holds on to the plan of though I should have been sorry, somehow I wasn't quite equal to the structure.

stand out with unusual prominence and are are generally considered to have some national significance.

This year the campaign has been a lively one, with the New Deal as the outstanding issue. Senator Frederick Hale, who is aspiring to his fourth term, and Alfred K. Ames, the Republican candidate for Governor, have both stressed it in their the nice ones. He wishes he could addresses. The three nominees for the House of Representa- do something about it, but he hardly fives have based their campaign on the contention that there is too much interference by the Federal Government in the business of the country and in the lives of the people. The Repub- I merely lock ridiculous, lican leaders claim that they will elect the Senator, the Governor and the three members of the House.

In 1932 Herbert Hoover carried the State by a plurality of about 38,000, but the Republicans lost the Governorship by shall I order for dinner? and husband votes. The comparisons of this year's election below the shall I order for dinner? and husband votes. will naturally be with the 1932 returns. If the Republican candidate for Governor should win, as predicted by the party managers, it would be a gain. The Democrats now have two of the three members of the House of Representatives. Whether that, they will regain these two seats remains to be seen.

In any event they are meeting the issue fairly and squarely but it's the hardest to forget when and are content to stand by the result. A survey of the State you hear it too often in the other gives the Republican leaders much encouragement. The people in both the cities and the rural sections seem dissatisfied with the New Deal. Rugged individualism still prevails in Maine, in spite of the fact that the Republicans met with losses two years ago. Part of that loss was due to local issues and the unpopularity of the State government, and part of it to the Roosevelt wave which swept over some conservative sections.

WHEN SCHOOL BELLS RING

The public schools are opening now, more to the joy of the boys and girls than might be supposed from their oft-expressed complaints. It is an easy matter to put off some little jobs until tomorrow For the children who are well-fed and properly clother, attendance has many compensating factors.

Like older people, boys and girls thrive and enjoy the discipline period means boresome idleness and irregular meals, and even children be behind in your work. soon learn to like system and regularity.

This is the age of centralized schools, and hundreds of boys and girls in the rural sections of this community will be catching the bus five mornings a week. This service, fortunately, is in the hands of drive dition for your day's labor.

Knowing that you still have work ers who fully appreciate the need for caution, and who also understand how to best serve the parents who, after all, as patrons and taxpayers, ich the are their real employers.

School board members feel a quickening of the pulse at this son of the year. Theirs is the responsibility for carrying on public educato in its most important phase. They take pleasure in providing ade-sult quate facilities for the boys and girls, and at the same time try to keep the goodwill of the community through their understanding of local viewpoints. It is the kind of responsibility which makes good citizens better citizens.

THE FLOURISHING BUSINESS OF NOT RAISING HOGS

The following letter was received the other day by the editor of a

Dear Sir: A friend of mine in New England has a neighbor who has received a government check for $1,000 this year for not raising hogs. So my neighbor now wants to go into the business himself. He says, the idea of not raising hogs appeals to him very strongly.

Of course, he will need a hired man, and that is where I come in. I write to you as to your opinion of the best kind of a farm not to raise hogs on, the best strain of hogs not to raise, and how best to keep an inventory of hogs you are not raising. Also, do you think capital could be secured by issuance of a non-hog-raising gold bond? The friend who got the $1,000 got it for not raising 500 hogs. Now, we figure we might easily not raise 1,500 or 2,000 hogs, so you see the possible profits are only limited by the number of hogs we do not raise. The other fellow had been raising hogs for 40 years and never made more than $400 in any one year. Pathetic, isn't it, to think how he wasted his life raising hogs when he could have made so much more not raising them!

I will thank you for any advice you may offer.

PRESENTS A GOOD EXAMPLE

Mrs. John T. Rainey showed good sense and good taste in refusing to seek election to the seat in congress occupied by her late husband. In qualifications she ranks as high as do many of the present members, and probably much higher than some.

If she had consented to become a candidate, though, she would have been running largely on her late husband's record and sentiment would have played a big part in getting her votes. She didn't want to go to congress simply because she was the widow of a speaker, and apparently she had no desire to seek the seat to satisfy any political ambitions or to attempt to promote any pet reforms.

Her example should serve as a wholesale one. There have been cases of widows of congressmen seeking election, and a sympathy vote usually has elected them. The practice is not one to be commended.

Widows who have won seats in the house may well have discharged their duties well, but their opponents were put to a disadvan-ficials paid him cash for it and tage by the appeal to sympathy which their candidacy carried and the real issues probably were largely overlooked.

"Fergusonism" again has met defeat. Maybe those Texans will not change their minds again.

THE FLOURISHING BUSINESS OF NOT RAISING HOGS

The following letter was received the other day by the editor of a newspaper:

Dear Sir: A friend of mine in New England has a neighbor who has received a government check for $1,000 this year for not raising hogs. So my neighbor now wants to go into the business himself. He says, the idea of not raising hogs appeals to him very strongly.

Of course, he will need a hired man, and that is where I come in. I write to you as to your opinion of the best kind of a farm not to raise hogs on, the best strain of hogs not to raise, and how best to keep an inventory of hogs you are not raising. Also, do you think capital could be secured by issuance of a non-hog-raising gold bond?

The friend who got the $1,000 got it for not raising 500 hogs. Now, we figure we might easily not raise 1,500 or 2,000 hogs, so you see the possible profits are only limited by the number of hogs we do not raise.

The other fellow had been raising hogs for 40 years and never made more than $400 in any one year. Pathetic, isn't it, to think how he wasted his life raising hogs when he could have made so much more not raising them!

I will thank you for any advice you may offer.

PRESENTS A GOOD EXAMPLE

Mrs. John T. Rainey showed good sense and good taste in refusing to seek election to the seat in congress occupied by her late husband. In qualifications she ranks as high as do many of the present members, and probably much higher than some.

If she had consented to become a candidate, though, she would have been running largely on her late husband's record and sentiment would have played a big part in getting her votes. She didn't want to go to congress simply because she was the widow of a speaker, and apparent-Iv she had no desire to seek the seat to satisfy any political ambitions or to attempt to promote any pet reforms.

Her example should serve as a wholesale one. There have been away with an extravagence that recases of widows of congressmen seeking election, and a sympathy vote minds me of an anecdote during the usually has elected them. The practice is not one to be commended.

The emperor Osahito bitterly hated the idea of having foreigners in his country, although he had never seen one and never ventured out of his palace at Kyoto. When the strange foreign document was presented to him for signature, he decided to consult the shade of the great Iyeyasu. The treaty was laid on the hero's tomb, but the ghost of fered no suggestion. Whereupon Ii, the shogun's minister, assumed the responsibility and signed the treaty himself. The enraged Osahito entered upon a fast of protest, cholera broke out, a comet was observed in the western sky and Minister Ii was assassinated. The emperor Osahito bitterly hated the idea of having foreigners in his country, although he had never Ruth Baird visited over Sunday in Mt. Jackson at her aunt and incles Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reed.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Montgomery of Pittsburgh visited Friday with but here with the strange foreign document was presented to him for signature, he decided to consult the shade of the great Iyeyasu. The treaty was laid on the hero's tomb, but the ghost offered no suggestion. Whereupon Ii, the shogun's minister, assumed the responsibility and signed the treaty himself. The enraged Osahito enter-ed upon a fast of protest, cholera broke out, a comet was observed in the western sky and Minister Ii was assassinated. But the treaty with the U. S. had been concluded, and Japan was open to the world, for good or bad.

YOUR CAR BURNS MORE AZTHAN GASOLINE!

The Best gasoline is the one that Mixes Best with AIR

1,500,000 "GALLONS" OF HELIUM! That's the capacity of this huge blimp. On a single extended motor tour your car may require this much passed over a fine gasoline spray-and the resulting mixture, when warmed, is the "gas" that your car burns. That's what gives your car its life.

GASOLINE ALONE HAS NO POWER. Liquid gasoline is highly concentrated "gas." Before your car can use it, it must be mixed with den changes radically alter the quality of the "gas." "In-and-out" performance can result-unless your gasoline has Climatic Control.

It's a good thing you don't have to buy the "gas" that runs your car! You'd be trailing a blimp around behind your car-instead of a ten or twenty-gallon gasoline tank.

For your car doesn't run on liquid gasoline-but on gasoline spray-mixed with several thousand times as much air!

Picture all that air traveling through your engine. Some hot, some cold, some moist, some dry as a desert ... because the weather is constantly changing from day to day-even hour to hour. These changes naturally affect the air.

And here's the rub-the quality of your "gas" varies with those changes in air conditions! All gasolines do not mix equally well with all kinds of air.

That's where Climatic Control comes in. This special preadjustment at the refinery makes Mobilgas mix better with air. Hot or cold, damp or dryany kind of air your car may "breathe."

The effect on performance is obvious. The same high level of power all of the time. The same quick starting in any weather. No loss of power due to sudden weather changes. Quick response when you "step on it."

Why not try Mobilgas? Just pull up at any station or pump where you see the sign of the Flying Red Horse.

secretions. Frequently, poor digestion is due to lack of tone in the stomach walls—because of low blood strength. S.S.S., the great, scientifically-tested medicine, is specially designed to fill a two-fold purpose in this respect...it aids in stimulating the flow of natural stomach secretions...and by building up deficient red corpuscles, with their hemo-glo-bin, it restores to a more normal functioning the secretions of the stomach digestive juices... so necessary for good digestion. This double value of S.S.S. is important.

By all means try S.S.S. for better health and more happiness. Its benefits are progressive...accumulative... and enduring. Unless your case is exceptional, you should soon enjoy again the satisfaction of appetizing food and good digestion... sound sleep...and renewed strength. This is why many say "5.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again." Do not be blinded by the efforts of a few unethical dealers who may suggest substitutes. You have a right to insist that S.S.S. be supplied you on request. Its long years of preference is your guarantee of satisfaction.

DIAMETER OF BALL HAS BEEN REDUCED

NEW YORK. Sept. 4 .- Following an informal poll of opinion among the coaches of the country, I am able to report today that they are almost beside themselves with apathy over the new ball, or Pittsburgh stogic model, that will be sliding off the well bred collegian's foot at a rakish tangent this fall. Some say it doesn't hold the line in the air. Others testify that, on the ground it bounces about like a bad check

Those who used it surreptitiously last year did so on the theory that, being stream-lined, it produced and aided long kicking and passing. TITLE DISPUTES

Chalk up another world's cham-pion on your long list of titleholders. Baby Arizmendi is his name and he's a featherweight. He is the champion because the New York

Boxing Commission said so.
There already are more title claimants in the eight divisions than there are ventilation holes in a Shredded Wheat. That didn't Wes Ferre stop the Commission from adding another name to the list, however Gotham had no hand in the coronation of Freddie Miller so they could never recognize him as the champion.

Freddie has proved to be the outstanding featherweight over the past year. He has defended his crown successfully against some good men. Nevertheless, the Commission failed o recognize Freddie and when Kid Chocolate abdicated his world's featherweight title, the New Yorkers 78 decided an elimination tournament was the thing. The featherweight class isn't the only division where the title is disputed: it isn't even the most complicated. The middleweight crown has a growing list of claimants. The bantamweights haven't been in touch with the title for some time. And nobody seems to care just who the flyweight champion is. Jones, Young Corbett, Marcel Thil. and Vince Dundee all step up when the champion is called. It all depends on whose back yard you're St playing in. Europe says Thil, so Ci Uncle Sam, not to be outdone, has B 74 three titleholders to dispute the Pi Frenchman's claim.

around but nobody seems to know exactly where it is. Panama Al Brown has been suspected but he has kept it pretty well concealed, if it is in his possession. Brown is a difficult individual to locate. He has recently been touring Europe engaging in overweight fights. Various commissions have expressed a desire to question Al about the title but as yet they haven't found him. Midget Wolgast says he is the fly-weight champion and has received no response but an echo. With the smallest boys in the game fighting for little or nothing, the flyweight title has had about as much popularity as an elephant at a Democra-tic convention. Besides, Midget (now a very misleading name) couldn't get down to the 112 pound class limit by any means short of amputation.

So while the fight world is singing the "Boxing on the Downgrade Blues," nothing is being done to remedy the muddle in which the fight game finds itself. The fighters, promoters, managers, and com-missioners are responsible for the title disputes that have bewildered the fans. However, instead of clarifying the situation, they have further complicated matters.

Max Baer can ballyhoo until his lungs collapse but the fight game will not return to its former popu-larity unless the title disputes become ironed out. Such phases as "title claimant," "recognized here," "generally recognized," and others are both confusing and repulsive to the fight fans.

Freddie has proved to be the outstanding featherweight over the past year. He has defended his crown successfully against some good men. Nevertheless, the Commission failed to recognize Freddie and when Kid Chocolate abdicated his world's featherweight title, the New Yorkers 8 decided an elimination tournament was the thing. The featherweight class isn't the only division where the title is disputed: it isn't even the most complicated. The middleweight crown has a growing list of claimants. The touch with the title for some time. And nobody seems to care just who the flyweight champion is.

Among the middleweights, Gorilla Jones, Young Corbett, Marcel Thil, and Vince Dundee all step up when the champion is called. It all de- New York 81 pends on whose back yard you're St. Louis 75 playing in. Europe says Thil, so Chicago 75 Uncle Sam, not to be outdone, has Boston 67 Frenchman's claim.

The bantamweight title is floating Philadelphia 48 77 around but nobody seems to know Cincinnati 47 81 exactly where it is. Panama Al 75 Brown has been suspected but he has kept it pretty well concealed, if it is in his possession. Brown is a difficult individual to locate. He has recently been touring Europe engaging in overweight fights. Various commissions have expressed a desire to question Al about the title but as yet they haven't found him. Midget Wolgast says he is the flyweight champion and has received no response but an echo. With the smallest boys in the game fighting for little or nothing, the flyweight title has had about as much popularity as an elephant at a Democratic convention. Besides, Midget (now a very misleading name) couldn't get down to the 112 pound class limit by any means short of amputation.

So while the fight world is singing of the "Boxing on the Downgrade Blues," nothing is being done to remedy the muddle in which the fight game finds itself. The fighters, promoters, managers, and commissioners are responsible for the title disputes that have bewildered the fans. However, instead of clarifying the situation, they have further complicated matters. Max Baer can ballyhoo until his lungs collapse but the fight game will not return to its former popularity unless the title disputes become ironed out. Such phases as "title claimant," "recognized here," "generally recognized," and others are both confusing and repulsive to the fight fans.

You can see now the lines that are going to be lionized . . . the patterns that are going to be picked by October and November buyers . . . and before you kick on it being too hot to wear Fall clothes, let us add that these first Fall suits from Griffon are as light as the suit you are wearing.

Some men are going to buy clothes this week. Smart men will insist that these new suits be of Fall design, for there is no use buying yesterday's newspaper with today's issue on the stand.

Victors Defeat Polish Nationals

Victors Take 2 To 1 Victory Labor Day, Top St. Stans Sunday 3 To 2

Victor baseball team won two games over the holidays, taking the measure of the fast St. Stans of Youngstown at Centennial Field Sunday afternoon 3 to 2 and taking the Polish Nationals for a 2 to 1 victory Labor Day at Centennial Field. The Sunday game was pitched by Peck Houston and he allowed the Ohioans but six hits. The Victors had eight hits off of Lenic. Scaglione. Kearns and Mechan had doubles for the longest hits of the game. Houston pitched a steady game to take the victory. In the game Monday afternoon the Victors found the pitching of W. Soho for 12 hits. Testa the Victor mound ace held the Polish boys to three hits. Testa fanned five men. Despite the number of hits made by the Victors they were only able to get two runs over the plate. Whalen, Cleary and Kusma were the best bets in the lineup of the Vic-

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 4.—The popularity of the mechanical drawing courses during the past three years is sufficient justification for continuing them again this year. The combination of mechanical drawing and blueprint reading worked satisfactorily and will be Beginning students are impressed with the need of good printing and several lessons are devoted to the teaching of the slant type of letter-ing. A thorough grounding is given on the principles of orthorgraphic projection with enough practice plates to insure a knowledge of this fundamental. Lectures are given on the various conventions of the drawing room, the general types of fastenings such as bolts, screws, keys, cotterpins, and on simple machine parts. All drawings are checked and corrected before they are finished. Individual instruction is the keynote to the success of this class.

Coaches Do Not Like New Ball

Claim It Does Not Hold Line In Air, Bounces Like Bad Check

DIAMETER OF BALL HAS BEEN REDUCED

By DAVIS J. WALSH International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 4 .- Following an informal poll of opinion among the coaches of the country, I am able to report today that they are almost beside themselves with apa-town. thy over the new ball, or Pittsburgh Oct stogle model, that will be sliding off the well bred collegian's foot at a rakish tangent this fall. Some say it doesn't hold the line in the air. Others testify that, on the ground, it bounces about like a bad check.

Ryantown, 7 To 3

But nearly all somm in agreement on one point: That it is likely to be a one-year ball.

They frankly feel that the tests made during spring practice, and more especially within recent weeks, have disclosed weaknesses that will recent the feelbly rules committee. prompt the foolball rules committee to ask for a re-count on its deces to ask for a re-count on his de-cision of last winter. The decision in question reduced the diameter of the official ball by almost an inch, thus making it sherper, nar-rower and apparently funnier. Trembles Like Jello This was done most unexpectedly and for reasons never satisfactorily explained, although the committee RHPOAE did say something nonsensical about the action being forced upon it because certain sections of the middle west had been bootlegging a smaller, ball last year. So, as far as one can find out, the idea is that in or-

> However, control and accuracy are the object of both of the activities mentioned and it same that mentioned and it seems that a study of the new ball has revealed certain tendencies usually associated with St. Vitus, the breakfast Jello and Miss West. It wavers VanEman in the fourth and allowed and trembles in mid air. It curves but one hit in the five and twoto one side or the other. It follows eccentric angles on the ground. It fanned nine men. TEAM PLAYS HERE ON OCTOBER 27

(Special To The News) PITTSBURGH, Sept. 4.-Headed by 13 lettermen, including but three regulars of the 1933 squad, Jock Sutherland will take 50 Pitt varsity football men to Camp Hamilton, near Windber, Pa., next Sunday, September 9. The first practice of the season will be held on September 10. ber 10.

The Panthers will remain two weeks in camp and then return to Pittsburgh in time for school, and a week later face W. & J. in the opening game of the season in the Pitt stadium.

Missing from the 1933 Pitt var-sity will be Bob Timmons and All-American Joe Skladany at the ends Frank Walton and John Meredith at the tackles, Tar Onder at right guard, Bob Hogan at quarterback and Howdy Odell and Mike Sebastian at the halfbacks.

The Pitt schedule for this fall de-mands that the Panthers be going at top speed earlier than ever before. By the third game of the season, Dr. Sutherland must have his team ready for the powerful Trojans of Southern California, making their first appearance in the east at the Pitt stadium on October 13.

The 1934 Pitt schedule follows: Sept. 29—Washington and Jefferson at Pitt stadium. Oct. 6-West Virginia at Morgan-

Cronin Crashes Into Wes Far rell At First Base And Splinters Bone In Arm

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Sept. 4-Cul inating a series of mishaps which tarted in March's exhibition games the Washington Senators will be vithout the services of their manager. Joe Cronin, for the remainder of the season. He broke his arm of the season. He broke his arr yesterday in the first game of double header with Boston.

Wes Ferrell, pitching for Boston took a short toss from Ed Morgan on a dead run and collided with Cronin at first base, in the eighth inning. Cronin turned a somersault over Ferrell's leg and rolled over twice in the dirt.

To prevent using their ony left-handed pinch hitter, Gecil Travis, Cronin played the minth inning with his arm broken just above the

TITLE DISPUTES

Chalk up another world's cham pion on your long list of titleholders. Baby Arizmendi is his name and he's a featherweight. He is the Boxing Commission said so.

There already are more title claimants in the eight divisions than there are ventilation holes in a Shredded Wheat. That didn't stop the Commission from adding another name to the list, however. Gotham had no hand in the coronation of Freddic Miller so they could never recognize him as the champion.

Freddie has proved to be the out standing featherweight over the past year. He has defended his crown uccessfully against some good men Nevertheless, the Commission failed to recognize Freddie and when Kid Chocolate abdicated his world's featherweight title, the New Yorkers decided an elimination tournament was the thing.

The featherweight class isn't the only division where the title is disputed; it isn't even the most complicated. The middleweight crown has a growing list of claimants. The bantamweights haven't been in touch with the title for some time. And nobody seems to care just who the flyweight champion is.

Among the middleweights. Gorilla Marcel In.1 and Vince Dundee all step up when the champion is called. It all depends on whose back yard you're St. Louis playing in. Europe says Thil, so Uncle Sam, not to be outdone, has three titleholders to dispute the Frenchman's claim. The bantamweight title is floating around but nobody seems to knew exactly where it is. Panama Al Brown has been suspected but he has kept it pretty well concealed, if t is in his possession. Brown is a difficult individual to locate. He has recently been touring Europe engaging in overweight fights. Vari ous commissions have expressed a desire to question Al about the title but as yet they haven't found him. Midget Wolgast says he is the fly weight champion and has received no response but an echo. With the smallest boys in the game fighting for little or nothing, the flyweight title has had about as much popularity as an elephant at a Democra tic convention. Besides, Midget (now a very misleading name) couldn't get down to the 112 pound class limit by any means short of amputation. the "Boxing on the Downgrade Boston 67 Blues," nothing is being done to remedy the muddle in which the fight game finds itself. The fighters, promoters, managers, and commissioners are responsible for the title disputes that have bewildered the fans. However, instead of clarifying the situation, they have further complicated matters.

Max Baer can ballyhoo until his lungs collapse but the fight game will not return to its former popularity unless the title disputes be-come ironed out. Such phases as "title claimant," "recognized here," "generally recognized," and others are both confusing and repulsive to the fight fans.

Week End Program At Pittsburgh

Lawrence county Boy Scout council was well represented at the west-ern section of the Region Three Camporal at Pittsburgh, over the week-end, three patrols and six adult leaders being on hand through the full period. All Lawrence couny patrols received the Standard Region emblem for their participation. Regional Chief R. F. Seymour was in general charge, and the patrols were divided into three divisions; the Lawrence county boys being in the Third Division. The local scout executive led the second division, consisting of twenty-five patrols. Each evening the whole assemblage over to the Allegheny County Fair grounds and made the Returning from the Camporal a umber of scouts and leaders took advantage of the low rates at the County Airport to take a flight over the Fair grounds and nearby country. This was a new experience for most of the boys and they enjoyed it to the full.

The great National Jamboree Washington was mentioned at the Camporal, and some scouts and scatters are already planning how they can attend. Local county work is rapidly rounding into shape for an active program during the fall and winter months; both troops and council members lining up meetings for this.
